

EGT Assessment Instrument

Public Order Evidence Gathering Team Course

Assessment Instructions to Assessors

General

During this course students are assessed against the assessment criteria on an ongoing basis. There are a number of practical exercises conducted during the course whereby students will be given the opportunity to satisfy the assessment criteria.

Requirements

The Student is required to satisfy each of the assessment criteria on one occasion throughout the practical elements of the course.

If at any stage throughout the course the learner is not appearing to meet the assessment standards and it becomes apparent the learner may not meet the assessment criteria, feedback is to be given to the learner to enable them to undertake additional training provided in order for them to meet competency.

Briefing

Learners must be briefed on the conduct of the assessment and the assessment criteria at the commencement of the course (Session One – Course Opening).

If the learner is found to be Not Yet Competent (NYC), they are to be given feedback on why and what they must do to be deemed competent.

Learners are required to successfully demonstrate all of the Public Order Evidence Gatherer Team Course assessment criteria before being deemed competent to attain the formal qualification.

Where a learner is found NYC in any of the assessment criteria and no further opportunity to demonstrate competency on the course exists, then a development plan should be implemented between the training staff and the learner in order to have the learner meet that criteria.

Consideration should be given to re-attendance on a future course or undertaking additional training in the area that the learner was deficient in.

Development should also be identified in consultation with the learner's line manager.
